REV.1.22

Published pricing is for reference and general guidance only in typical market conditions. Current market conditions are atypical. Volume levels market to market can have a significant impact to field pricing with very little ramp up time. Due to the field volatility in pricing during historic volume levels, we strongly encourage all of our partners to over disclose appraisal fees to allow for appropriate variance and streamline the appraisal process. We will continue to monitor markets and provide you directed specific feedback when warranted.
